CHIEFS WIN ERRATIC GO

Brown's St. Louis Feds Downed in See-Saw Battle by 13 to 8 Score—Cub Game Postponed.

Chicago, Ill., June 26.—Charley Comiskey and a staff of lawyers were in Buffalo yesterday getting injunction proceedings against Hal Chase, jumping first baseman of the Sox.

While this was going on Jacques Fournier, "subbing" for the temperamental initial sack guardian, won a half game, their sixth straight, for the White Sox, his triple with one out in the ninth, followed by Bodie's single, putting a quiescent on Detroit in a pitching battle, 3 to 2. Score:

Tinker's Feds Win Again.

St. Louis, June 26.—Joe Tinker's Federalists whipped Brown's locals again yesterday, but did not glow over the accomplishment. The score was 13 to 8, but the affair was worse than the figures indicate. To be brief and to the point, it was about as rank a game as was ever played, and the less said about the details the better. Score:

EARL HENDERSON ILL FRIENDS SAY

Managers Deny Bad Handling but Admit He Should Not Have Entered Ring.

Managers of Earl Henderson, who quit his fight with Frank Whitney at the Empire theatre Wednesday night, deny that the Rock Island scrapper was overtrained, or that he took off too much weight in a short period. They assert that he was really out of condition all through his training period. For three years he has never weighed below 140 pounds, switching around 146 or 148 normally and fighting at about 142. When he began training for Wednesday night's bout, however, he weighed but 137 and he went into the ring at 136.

COMISKEY JEERED BY BUFFALO FANS

Sheriff Halts Hal Chase With Injunction in Third Inning of Game.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 26.—Hal Chase played two innings of baseball at Federal field yesterday afternoon. At the end of the second inning Sheriff Fred Becker climbed from the grand stand and went on the playing field. He served Chase with a copy of the restraining order issued by Justice Pooley forbidding him from playing with any other ball team because of a contract with the Chicago White Sox of the American League. President Comiskey of the Sox was here with his lawyers.

The appearance of the sheriff had been anticipated and thousands of people were on hand to see the trouble. Chase was taken to the baseball park disguised as a woman. He was attired in a fashionable gown and passed as the wife of one players. He was kept in a small outhouse for nearly an hour to evade the process servers, and was only taken out when he insisted that he was suffocating.

A frantic effort had been made to add a touch of the sensational to the affair. The Federal club offered a big sum to Glen Curtis to send an aeroplane here. It was planned to have Chase brought to the field in the air craft, but Curtis refused to send a machine.

When the sheriff and two policemen went on the field there was a great demonstration on the part of the fans. The officers were jeered and hissed and shouts went up asking him to let Chase finish the game. So noisy was the demonstration that it was feared that the fans might break on the field and start a riot. The protest soon subsided, however, and after posing for the camera men Chase went to the clubhouse.

GOOD ONES WILL ENTER 2:18 TROT

Race at Exposition Park on the Fourth Will Bring Promising Nags Together.

It is a safe bet that the 2:18 trot at Exposition park on July 4 will be one of the best and hardest fought races ever held in Rock Island. It is very seldom that more evenly matched horses come together for a race than the ones that are entered here. Lola West made an appearance at this track three years ago and won in such handy fashion that she was barred from further matinee races here. She was racing then as a green mare and immediately after leaving here at that race she took a mark of 2:17 flat at Quincy in one of the hardest fought six heat races over the Quincy track ever held. As she was laid up most of last year and made only one or two starts and did not win a race in which she equaled or bettered her mark she is entitled to one second off, which makes her eligible to the 2:18 class.

Bessie Astello, owned by Wallace Breeding of DeWitt, Iowa, was one of the best slow class trotters of last year. She started early in the year and won her share of all the money until she hit the Central Illinois circuit, where she won every engagement where she was entered. She has trained good and sound again this year and has worked miles around 1:15 and better. If she shows well here when she turns in company for the first time this season, she will be shipped from here to the Illinois Valley circuit, where the racing is of the hardest kind outside of the Grand circuit.

Dave Carlson had intended to ship Honor's Princess to Newton, Iowa, to make the fast two meetings in the Cedar Valley, but was induced to keep her here to test her metal against these two good horses. She has never met her equal here and many people are desirous of seeing how she will race when matched against horses of the same calibre as herself. She is a game race mare and no horse eligible to the 2:18 class has any edge on her in a hard race.

The other horses entered in this race have not had as much training as the above mentioned three, but are all good, game race horses and are always racing when started. They will make a showing that any owner could be proud of. The Striver has been lame, but it is hoped that she will be fully recovered by the Fourth so that local people may see how good a mare she is in her 4-year-old form. She will be one of the best trotters ever owned in Rock Island if she remains sound. It will be a wonderful race.

JOHNSON CLAIMS MORAN WILL BE EASY PICKING

Paris, June 26.—Jack Johnson, the colored American pugilist, firmly believes his fight on Saturday with Frank Moran of Pittsburgh will not last longer than 12 rounds, and that at the end of the bout he will still be champion. Johnson said this yesterday while he was doing his last day's real training for the encounter. His work today will be light and on Saturday he intends to rest. Moran rose early yesterday and with several companions took a long walk, varied by sprints, on the banks of the Ohio, near his headquarters at Meriel. In the afternoon he boxed with several sparring partners, including Tom Kennedy, in whom he finds a sturdy opponent.

A number of Americans who intend to be present at the fight called at the Moran quarters.

THE LETTERS OF A BUSH LEAGUER

BY H. F. POD.
Chicago, June 2.—Dear Bill: Well, I suppose you read in the papers where I been sold to the White Sox, and here I am in Chicago. Gee, Bill, I'm sure glad to get away from Davenport, and believe me this is some town. The buildings here are some high, take it from me.
A funny thing happened last night. Bill, I got in kind of late, so I went to a hotel and registered and then went out for a little walk. Well, I went to a movie show, and on my way home some swell looking dame stopped me and asked me to buy her a bottle of beer. You know how they all fall for me, Bill. I suppose after I've won a few games for the Sox I can almost have any girl I want in town. Well, you know, she asked me to buy her a bottle of beer, and I said sure I would. But when I asked her to give me the money to buy it with she got sore and called me a cheap screw. Say, Bill, if she hadn't been a woman I'd have landed one on her jaw. You know me, Bill. I don't see why she got sore when I offered to buy the beer for her.

This morning I reported to Comiskey and this afternoon I sat on the bench with a White Sox uniform on. Ed Walsh pitched and Boston knocked him all over the lot. They won 6 to 0. Say, Bill, if I can't pitch better than that guy I'll eat my shirt. Why, he ain't got nothing.
After the game I went to a hotel to eat and they taxed me 35 cents for my supper. I call that downright robbery. I could get a good meal for two bits easy if I'd been in Davenport.

Well, give my regards to the bunch. Bill, and watch the papers. I'll be pitching some day soon, and just watch my smoke. You know me, Bill. Well, so long. Your pal, ED.

Chicago, June 10.—Dear Bill: Well, old pal, I don't think much of Callahan's judgment. I don't see why he don't pitch me. Every morning out at the ball park when we practice he has me throwing against the other players, and I'm standing them all on their heads. We ain't won only one game this week, and Russell won that. He had a lot of horseshoes, too, I'll tell you. Weaver and Blackburne ate up all kinds of hits or we would of lost that one. We're playing the Tigers here now, and this morning I asked Callahan why he didn't pitch me. I told him I bet I could show that bunch up easy. Callahan must think I'm a good pitcher, alright, cause he said he just bet I could strike pretty near all of them out. But then he didn't put me in. Say, Bill, if he thinks I so good as that, why don't the big boob let me pitch?

What do you think that big stiff Ed Walsh did yesterday? While I was practicing with "Red" Kuhn he came over and tried to tell me how to throw a splitter. The idea of that great big bloke trying to tell me anything. I told him I guessed I knowed enough about pitching without having to be told anything about it, and he said he guessed no doubt I was a regular Walter Johnson. I don't know whether he was kidding me or not, but I'll bet I can pitch just as good as Walter Johnson any old day in the week.

Walsh told Callahan that I wouldn't let him coach me, the big tattletale, and after the practice was over Callahan came over and bawled me out about it. The big overgrown nut! I ought to have landed on him right there, but I just told him to mind his own business and I'd mind mine. He got sore then, and said if I didn't listen to coaching I'd soon find myself back in the bushes. I guess they can't tell me anything, Bill. You know me. If Cal gets fresh like that again I'd feel ing out toward the fence. If it hadn't of been for the wind it wouldn't have went so blame far anyhow. Three runs scored and Baker got to third. Then McKinnis hit one that Weaver should have ate up easy but it went by and Baker scored. And those freakish score keepers called it a hit. This made me so blame sore that I walked Strunk and that brought up Barry. If ever a guy got a lucky hit he got it then. I put over the peachiest drop you ever seen, and Barry just swung like an old woman. He hit it right square and I had so much speed on it that it went on a bee line for center field. Bodie ought to have caught it easy, but he ran away under it and then the thing sailed over his head out to the fence. It was an error on Bodie and those newspaper guys called it a home run. Wait until I see one of them, I'll land on him so hard all his grand children will be lame. You know me, Bill.

Well, that made seven scores and then Cal motioned me to come in because I had a sore arm and couldn't pitch any more. They put in Benz and he had all kinds of luck all afternoon. If they would have supported me like they did him the Athletics wouldn't have got a score.
By the way, Bill, I'm going out to see Bessie tonight and have supper out there. Here's where I make a big hit. I want to be careful though as I don't want her to fall too much in love with me right away. It costs too much to get married. You know me, Bill. Well, so long. Your pal, ED.
